

Business-Intimate Technology Solutions

Imagine over 8000 people converging on Denver for very hectic worldwide conference based around the convention center -- Further imagine being able to make a statement (in this context), that you were the luckiest people in world, as attendees of the Microsoft Worldwide Partner Conference.

Such was the case when 3 executive colleagues and I landed in the perfect location, the Brooks Tower, with Suites on the 29th and 42nd floors. These perfectly located and amenity-equipped accommodations provided exceptional space and views that were the envy of everyone we met with. A simple 2 block walk to the convention center was very efficient for business, and the central Denver/LoDo location made the social scene surrounding the conference a breeze.

If I could only find this set up in every city - There is simply not a better way to go! And to top it off, our security deposit was refunded one business day following check out. Simple. Awesome. Don't miss it next time your travels take you to Denver!
